

Bathroom accessories from Gustavsberg

If the WC, bathtub, shower, washbasin and mixer are the genuine “everyday heroes” of the bathroom, then the functional accessories are the auxiliaries – the ones that make sure that the bathroom functions at not 90 but 100 per cent.

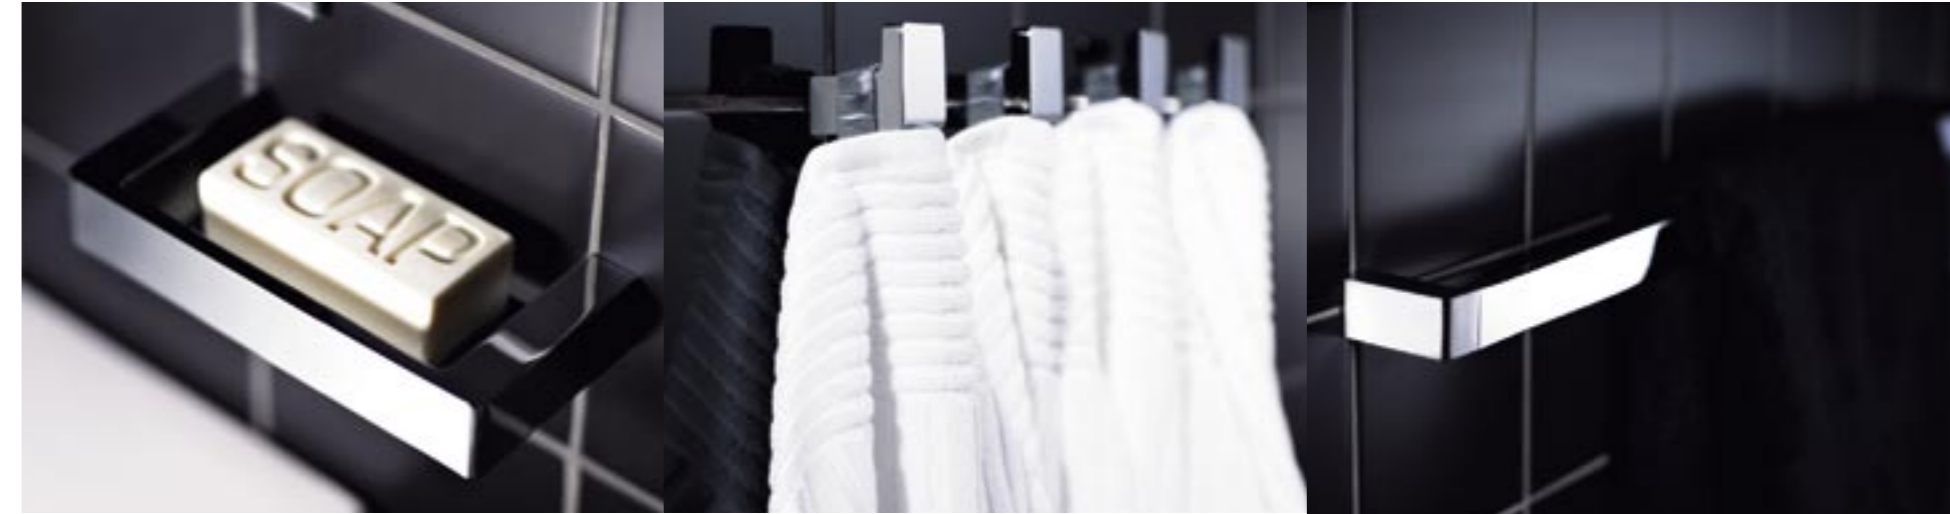

We have now developed a range of accessories based on the foundations that have always dominated the design traditions at Gustavsberg, namely that form must always follow function.

In addition to concentrating on the high quality of the material (chromed brass) and excellent finish, our designers have been preoccupied with two key concepts: easy to fit and easy to clean! Gone are all the unnecessary design finesses that make it tricky to mount the units on the wall or hard to get to with a cloth.

The concept is carried through to the product name, too. No unnecessary details there either, just G1, G2 and G3. Simple. The G can just as well stand for Genuine quality as for Gustavsberg.

Here, the designers have stuck faithfully to straight lines and right angles. The result is elegant, sober and understated – which many people find very relaxing. After all, bathroom accessories are principally intended to make a contribution through their function: a simple, clear and reliable shelf for products you want to keep close at hand, for example. The range also includes solid hooks, hand-towel holders and toilet roll holders. G1 fits in sublimely in tiled bathroom environments where the tiles and their joins have already set the scene of straight lines and right angles.

In the G2 range, right angles meet rounded shapes. Many people consider round rods, hooks and holders to be kinder on the hand and, in particular, on bathroom textiles. The range remains simple and frugal, but the circular base shape makes the accessories slightly easier on the eye. Most certainly a modern look, but not quite as strict and austere. We are sure that the G2 range will soon be finding its way onto bathroom walls throughout the country.

A great many people really appreciate soft organic shapes in their bathrooms. Possibly because these form a fine contrast to hard materials such as tiling and porcelain. With this in mind, we have brought out the G3 range with its playful yet simultaneously restrained design language. The playfulness has in no way limited the focus on function. G3 is the broadest range. It also includes a number of frosted details such as toilet brush holders and soap dispensers.

The bathroom accessories do not make a bathroom...

They certainly are good attributes, but bathrooms also need a WC, a washbasin, a few mixers and sometimes a bathtub (and even a bidet!) to be complete.
